Interfaith Chapels

Open 24 hours daily

The Interfaith Chapels at Reagan National and Dulles International Airports offer a quiet oasis away from the rush and demands of travel and work. All persons are welcome— from employees who come for a few minutes break, to passengers and other visitors who feel the need to pray and to read.

This ministry was founded as a spiritual and theological resource for the millions of passengers and thousands of employees who frequent the two airports that serve our nation’s capital. In the small chapels one may refresh mind and heart with spiritual reading, prayer, and reflection. Sacred scriptures and literature are available in several languages.

Our Mission

- Provide pastoral guidance for those who are hurting
- Intercede in resolving personal conflicts
- Conduct religious services at both airports
- Provide a trauma team in cases of catastrophic loss
- Provide a quiet place for private prayer, meditation and religious observances

Offers Emotional and Spiritual Support

The Airport Chaplaincy offers basic pastoral care services to passengers, airport, and airline personnel. Assistance in emergency or other difficult situations is available when requested.

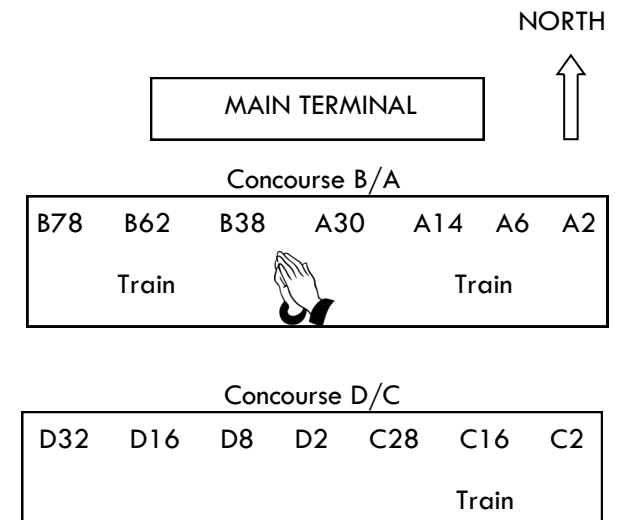

The Chaplaincy is staffed by ordained, and licensed clergy as well as trained lay volunteers. For those who need outside help, chaplains provide a bridge to community resources and churches throughout the greater Washington DC area.

Numerous Languages are Spoken

Within our team of Chaplains and Volunteers, the following languages are spoken:

- English
- Spanish
- French
- Amharic
- Polish
